THE BEST

Ice Cream Soda costs only Five Cents. The poorest Ice Cream Soda sold in Palestine costs that much. You will find the best at BRATTON'S. That is the unanimous verdict. It is an unsettled question as to who keeps the poorest.

FRANK MORRIS TELLS OF DEFEAT

Offers Consolation to His Fellow Sufferers, and Says Defeat Is Not as Bad as It Looks. Will Work for the Ticket.

You no doubt realize by this time that I am off on a trip up "Salt river," but the way is so well marked by those who have gone before that I have had little trouble in finding it.

I have now reached my destination and found several of my friends whom I know, and who several days ago were smiling over the prospects for an office, but they are now trying to figure out just "how it happened."

There is quite a crowd of us here, to-wit: Wilse Ewing, Seldon McMeans, Alf Dexter, Will Kersh, Murf Rogers, Bob Petty, and others too numerous to mention from other parts of the state.

We met our good friends Z. A. McReynolds, Ben Parker, Will Montgomery, Conrad Perry, Geo. Tucker, Byron Singletary, Oliver Tippen, Jno. Moore, Tom Harris, Tom Phillips, Sam Howard, Reese Fowler, Jo A. Johnson, and others, who took the trip on the 9th. They are all good-natured fellows, and good democrats.

We shall remain here until about the 1st of September and then we shall all come home and help fight the battle of the grandest party on earth.

While we were preparing to push away from shore the other boat pushed away and went gliding smoothly over the waters that lead to the various official harbors of the county and state, with J. J. Blount as captain, who declared as the signal was given, that "Old J. J. was standing on his hind legs." A candidate for public office like a mariner without a compass drifting on the tempest tossed waves of uncertainty, between the cliffs of hope and the cliffs of despair.

He is a living prayer for the public sentiment and the goal of his ambition he will soon the beak of the vulture in his heart and the fang of the serpent in his soul. The ark of my humble public career rests on the Ararat of private life and I shall soon stand on its peaceful summit and look down upon the receding flood of politics.

The dove of my destiny has brought me an olive branch from happier fields and I shall go hence to labor and to love, but I shall take with me a heart full of gratitude and a soul full of precious memories—gratitude to my friends for their unwavering confidence in me, precious memories of those who have been kind and true.

The record I have made is an open book to all. I am willing to live and die by it, for whatever mistakes I have made I kept steadily in view the honor of my county, the interests of the County Clerk's office and as well the interests of the people.

Sincerely thanking my friends who remained loyal and supported me, and forgiving those who did not, I beg to remain, Your humble servant, FRANK MORRIS.

THE SECOND PRIMARY VOTE

On Saturday Completed the Nominees for Democratic Offices in Anderson County.

The primary election on Saturday passed off quietly, though considerable interest was manifested, and some hard work was done by the candidates and their friends. The Herald has not yet received the results of the vote by precincts, but below are the totals and majorities in each precinct. These figures are as near correct as obtainable at this time. One of the Watta School House, is not included in this estimate, but no change is expected in any race by this vote. The box only votes about 30 strong. The figures are:

Judge: Erwin, 1318; Blount's majority, 166.

He Is Thankful.

Mr. C. M. Kay, elected county attorney, is still sick and confined to his room. He sent word to the Herald to write a card of thanks, expressing his gratitude for the handsome support the voters of the county gave him. Mr. Kay promises a full performance of his duties, without fear or favor, and the Herald believes he will do his duty regardless. And that is the kind of man that should fill this highly important office.

The Herald hopes, with his numerous friends, that Mr. Kay will soon be restored to perfect health.

Good News.

The famous Tyler College of Tyler, Texas, will move into its elegant three story brick building this week. It is by far the finest and largest commercial school building in the South; it is elegantly equipped, scientifically ventilated and lighted.

This school is certainly enjoying the success it so much deserves; 900 students enrolled this year. Any one interested in a commercial or short-hand course should write for their free catalogue at once.

If you enjoy a delicious cup of pure mocha and java coffee, and it pleases you to use only the very best, then go to Hooker & Company and secure a can of the famous "ALAMO."

The Herald will introduce Madame to the ladies of Palestine.
